This Is Westminster

Her Doorways Reflect...

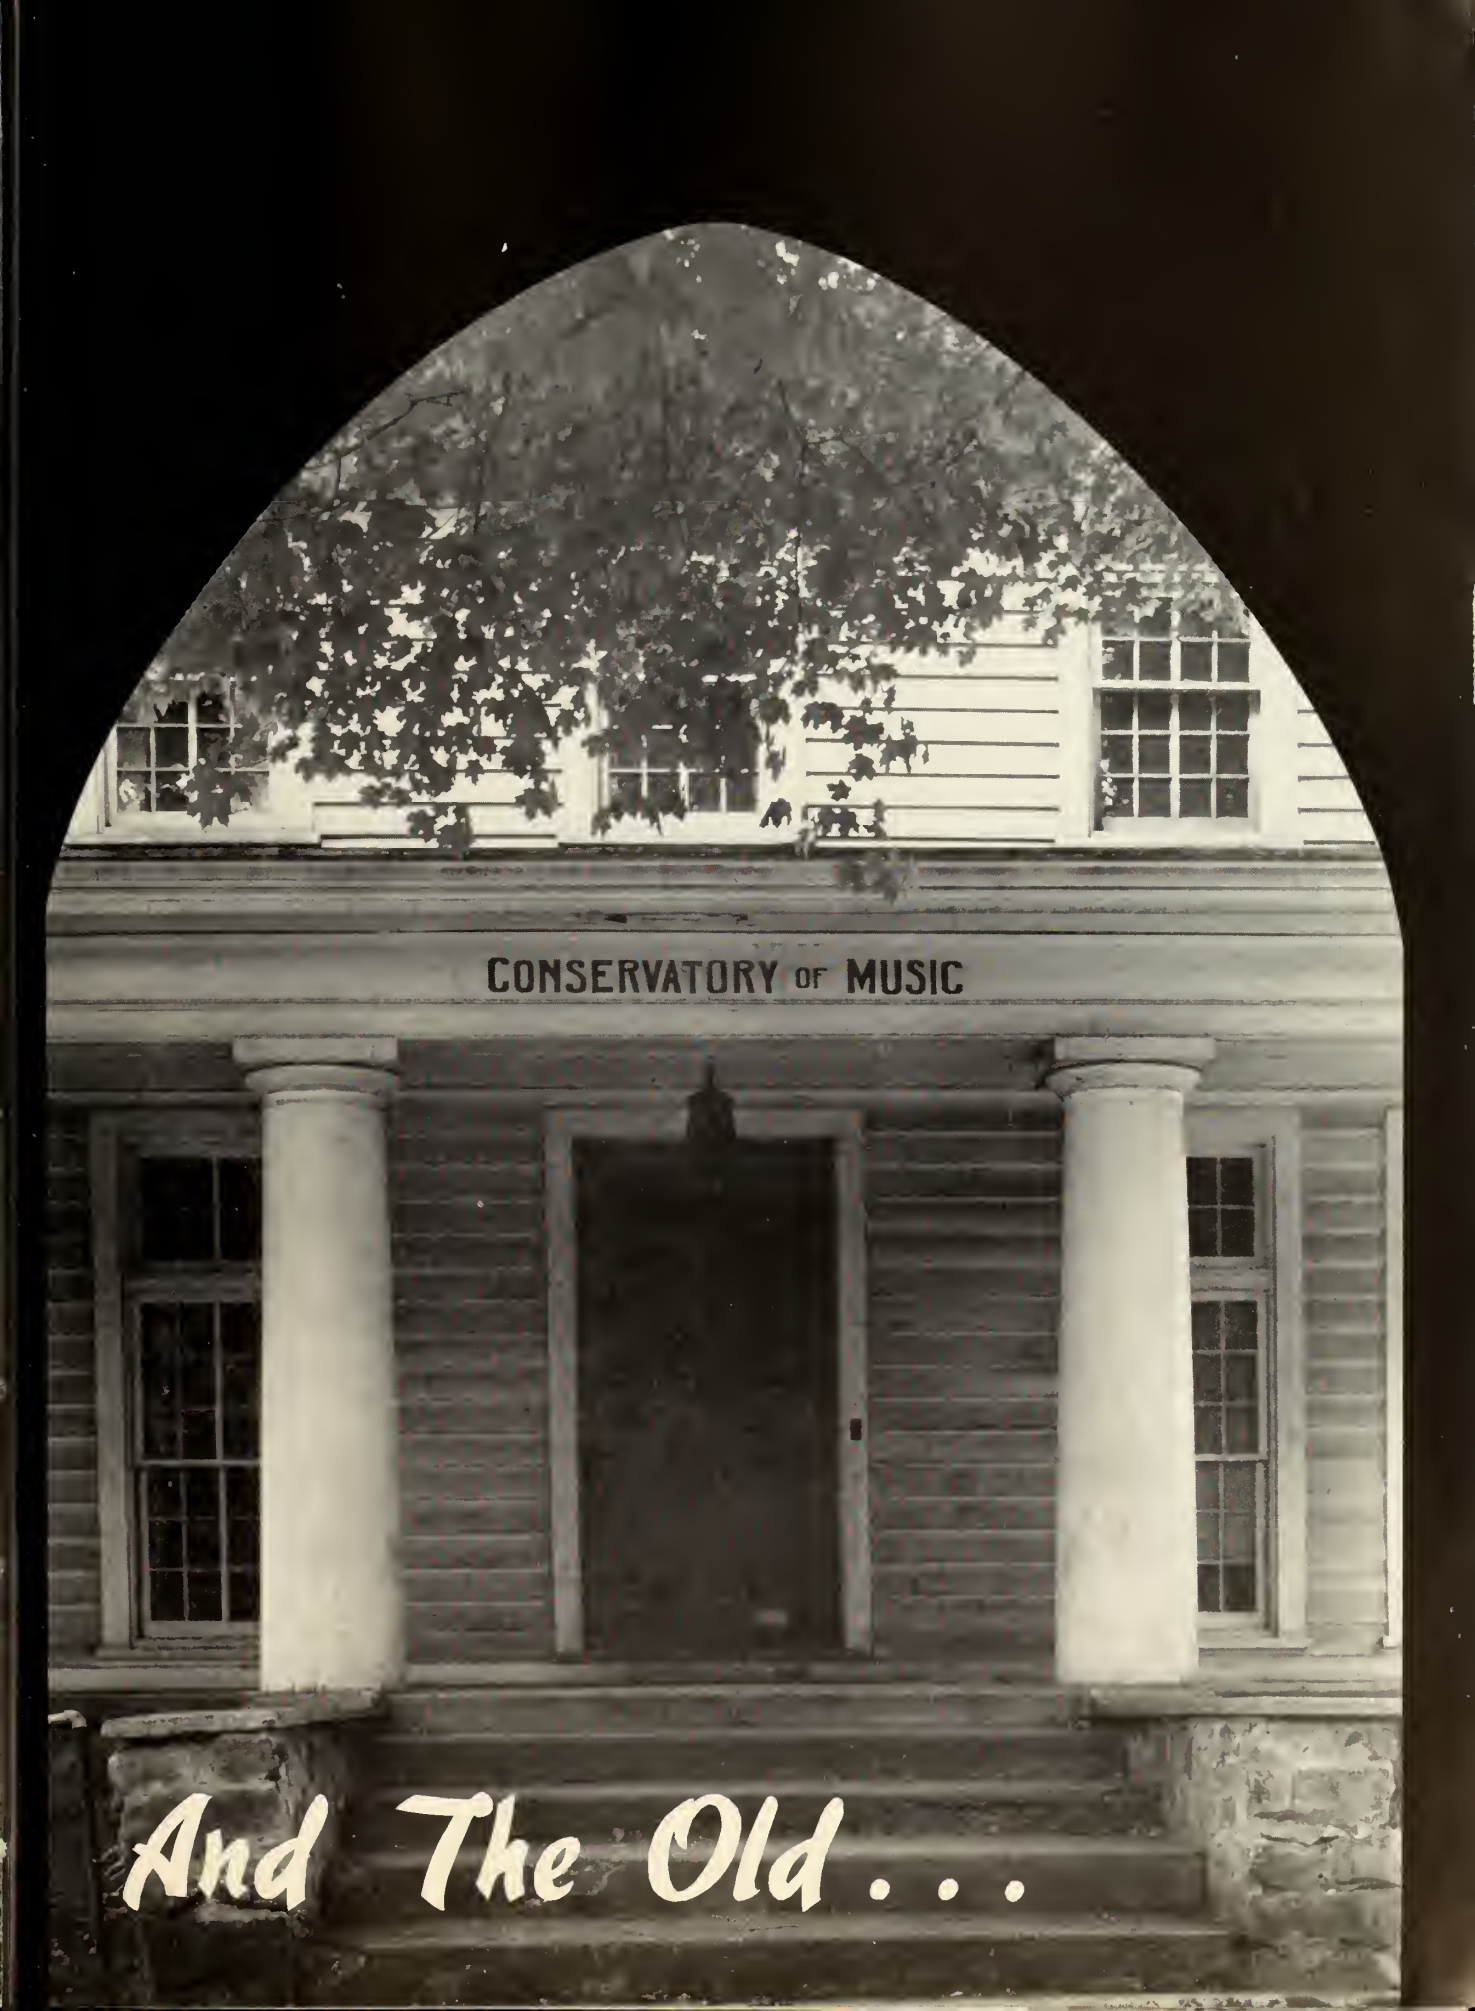

FREE-MAN-SCIENCE-BUILDING

Her Versatility . . .

She Is The New . . .

CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC

And The Old . . .

She Is Friendly . . .

We know of no one else on campus who takes a bigger interest in more people. How he does it is a mystery, but for years he has taken pride in knowing by name and personality just about everyone. Westminster would lack something important without his key-for-every-purpose, his shy smile, and his "Hi."

Mr. Reed to some, Ed to others, he isn't what you'd call a character, nor is he the loudest cheerleader around . . . just a guy you can't help liking.

So here's a "Hi" right back at you, Mr. Reed, as we proudly dedicate Argo 1955 to you.

She Is Guidance . . .

Westminster College

New Wilmington, Pa.

OFFICE OF THE PRESIDENT
WILL W. ORR

Dear Seniors:

Your last undergraduate-class-bell has sounded. Some of you will go on for higher degrees. For many of you, however, your formal education ends today.

"What do I have after four years in a liberal arts college?" The answer may not be as evident as if you had attended a trade school. You have gone with competent guides into the gallery of man's achievements. You know something of what man has accomplished, what he has thought, what he has sung, and what he has hoped. His fascinating record of achievements and ambitions is something of a guide to the world in which you will live out your life.

However, the finest scholar would make a poor living as a prophet. Your four years have been carefully designed with the major emphasis on making a life worth the living, rather than training the hand to a trade. You have wealth untold if you have learned cooperation with others, respect for duly constituted authority, love for little children, loyalty to your colleagues, the necessity for hard work, genuine sympathy with the unfortunate, the value of your immortal soul, and the power of prayer.

However much one knows, no one can ever say, "I have arrived." The sea about us has its fixed boundaries -- there are no boundaries to knowledge. The most learned scholar is still an humble student. If you are so honestly concerned about your success that you are kept humble, hard-working and praying, success will take care of itself. It is my earnest prayer for you that God will give you more to do than you can do alone, or with mortal help.

Visit the college whenever you can. You may lose money, health, fame or beauty. You will probably not lose the recollections of college days. The door to this Vault of Memories swings widest as you revisit the campus. We pledge you our friendship and help wherever you are, and in whatever way we can assist.

And now, Goodbye, and may the God of us all hold you in His heart, be able to use you in His purposes, and keep you in His strength.

Sincerely,

Will W. Orr

Ars Gratia Artis

Art

Mr. Jack Taylor, a newcomer to campus this year, has directed the operations of the Art department since September.

The little white building people pass on the way to the infirmary will get an internal face-lifting during the summer months. A new kiln will be installed in the Art Lab for student ceramic work, too, and three new courses are scheduled for next semester.

Through frequent field trips, students got a wider picture of artistic expression, in addition to practical experience in the lab.

A combined major of Bible-Psychology-Philosophy is offered to students planning to enter seminary following graduation. For students planning a career of religious education, a plain Bible major is offered in conjunction with education courses.

Bible requirements for liberal arts students were changed this year. Evidences, Ethics, and Religions of the World are no longer required. Instead, a wider range, including Gospel history, Old Testament prophecy, and Wisdom literature, satisfies requirements. The General Epistles and Revelation has been added to the curriculum.

Professors from the department sponsor Karux, an organization of pre-ministerial students. Department professors are: Dr. John Orr, Chairman of the department; Dr. Joseph Hopkins, Dr. Wayne Christy, and Dr. Kenneth Smith.

Business Education

"Just My Type"

A new attack has taken place in the Business Education department this year. The field of electrical equipment has been successfully invaded, and the curriculum is being adapted to meet the demands of students interested in it.

The department, working in affiliation with the Business Administration department, offers a four-year program leading to a degree of Bachelor of Business Administration in secretarial studies, in addition to a two-year secretarial course.

Miss Carol Nicklass joined the staff during the year, replacing Miss Arlene Risher. Mr. George Watto became a full-time member of the faculty. Mr. Robert Galbreath is head of the department.

Biology

Now settled in the larger and more efficient laboratory and lecture rooms of the new Science hall, the biology department, under the direction of Dr. Myron Simpson, provides background for graduate study in medicine, the biological sciences, and teaching.

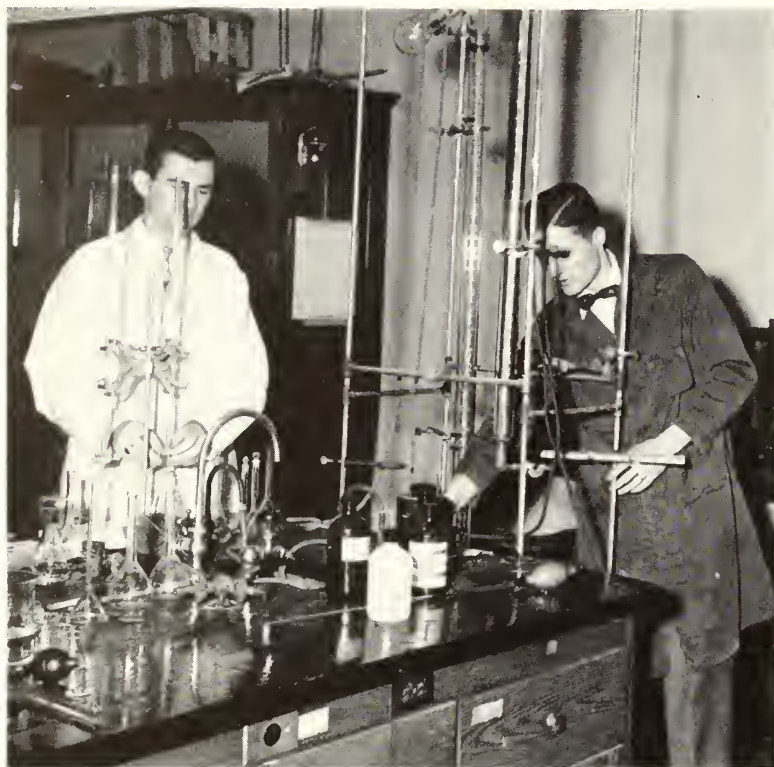

The new laboratory, accommodating about forty students, is equipped with much new apparatus, from microscopes to a forthcoming fifty-gallon aquarium. In conjunction with the nurses' training program, other material has been increased to enlarge facilities.

Geology and Histology were added to the curriculum this year. Dr. Simpson and Dr. Hugh Rawls are professors of biology.

Mrs. E. Lucille Frey teaches biology to the liberal arts majors.

"Of birds and bees . . ."

Chemistry

And then everything went black . . .

Thanks to a new Science hall, the Chemistry department now has spacious lodging. The knowledge students gain from their chemistry courses leads them into any number of fields, ranging from graduate work to immediate placement in the field of research.

Added to the Chemistry curriculum this year was a course in Biochemistry. Organic qualitative analysis will be included next year.

In conjunction with the Westminster chapter of the American Chemical Society, the department planned a Senior Seminar day, at which time chemistry seniors presented reports, in correlation with several other district colleges.

An expensive gramatic balance, which weighs materials in a matter of seconds with great accuracy, was added to department equipment this year.

Dr. Roger Max joined the staff as chairman of the department, replacing Dr. J. O. Collins. Assisting him was Mr. Thomas Cummings.

Economics and Business Administration

In a busy capitalistic world, a constructive preparation for business is imperative. The department offers students a fundamental background in accounting, economics, and business administration.

Two field trips were sponsored by the department in an attempt to better acquaint them with a knowledge of practical developments in production, consumption, and economics.

One group in accounting, conducted by Mr. Paul Schwartz, a new-comer to the staff this year, took students to the Universal Rundle plant in New Castle. Mr. "Sam" Sloan took a group to a meeting of the Industrial Information Institute in Youngstown.

Mr. Albert Sweetser, assistant professor in business administration, joined the staff this year. Other professors are Mr. Ronald Jones and Mr. Captain McKee, chairman of the department.

Education and Psychology

"Everybody Smile!"

One section of the Education and Psychology department often overlooked is that of graduate study. One of the most flourishing divisions of the department, its enrollment hit an all-time high of 194 this year.

Under the direction of Dr. L. H. Wagenhorst, the department has been attempting to meet the increasing demand for teachers in the elementary grades. Most of the education classes were taught by Miss Allegra Ingleright and Mr. Ernest Saul. The kindergarten, started last year under the direction of Miss Beulah Campbell, provides practical experience for the education majors as well as for the psychology students.

Psychology courses were taught by Mr. Claude Eckman, Mr. John Edwards, Mrs. Olive Hewitt, and Dr. Gildo Santavicca.

English

The Poetry Reading Festival was the English department's big event of the year. Whittier's "Snowbound," Coleridge's "Rime of the Ancient Mariner," and Tennyson's "Poems" were awarded to contest winners in March.

SCRAWL, campus literary magazine, is a department-supervised project, and Scroll, English honorary, has been operating under the auspices of the English department.

Dr. George Bleasby returned from his sabbatical leave at the beginning of the second semester to relieve Dr. Isaac Keller, who had replaced him first semester. His time was spent in research.

English professors are Dr. Mary Purdy, head of the department, Dr. Myrta McGinnis, Dr. John Forry, Dr. Amy Charles, Miss Margaret Duff, Mr. Charles Cook, Dr. George Bleasby, and Miss Frances Brown.

"Oh, we like Spillane, all right . . ."

History, Sociology, and Political Science

"So I said to Arnold Toynbee . . ."

Forty students witnessed history in the making last October with a trip to the United Nations. Under the auspices of the department, the trip has become an annual affair for anyone interested.

Other programs in addition to the curriculum are in full swing during the college year as a part of the International Relations Club program. The group meets regularly, advised by Dr. Delber McKee to discuss international trends and current events.

Dr. Wallace Jamison is department head. He is assisted by Dr. Martin Ridge, Mr. Carl Waisanen, Dr. Delber McKee, and Dr. Edward Cain, who joined the staff this year.

Journalism

Westminster's budding Pulitzers are a busy lot. In addition to the practical experience gained in work on campus publications, the department offers a well-rounded practical and theoretical program.

The noisy United Press teletype in the News Bureau provides many happy hours of copy reading and headline writing for journalism students, and the several department-sponsored field trips give a clearer picture of the highly technical aspects of the newspaper business. Journalism students have edited the Ellwood City Ledger and the New Wilmington Globe under the patient supervision of harrassed editors, and have taken trips to inspect industrial and other forms of journalism in action.

Miss Elizabeth Nixon and Mr. Robert Carey act as the department faculty, and Mr. Carey directs the college News Bureau.

"I know it's in here somewhere . . ."

Languages

"No-Spik-a-da-English"

For the first time in quite a while, the language department is equipped to offer a full program in Latin, plus courses in French, German, Greek, and Spanish.

In an effort to meet the demands for language in both teaching and scientific fields, the instructors this year have made modest beginnings along the audio-visual lines. The department has purchased a tape recorder, a record player, and several records that give the students an opportunity to better understand conversation and translation.

During the past year, Dr. J. Hilton Turner, chairman of the department, taught Greek and Latin. Mr. Walter Biberich was instructor in German, Mr. Thomas Wiley taught Spanish, and Miss Alice Ligo taught French.

Mathematics

Mathematics supplies the answers to many of the problems of the social as well as the natural sciences. Those planning careers in scientific fields find math an invaluable tool. Students from other fields are attracted to the subject by its precision, abstraction, and its logical organization.

To meet these needs, the department offers courses in the mathematics of finance and statistics, as well as the conventional sequence of college algebra, trigonometry, analytic geometry, calculus, and differential equations.

Mr. Paul Brown, acting chairman of the department, and Mr. Merrill Palmer, constitute the department faculty.

"Hmm . . . that figgers . . ."

Music

"Sound your A . . ."

One of the more active departments of the college, the music department employs an impressive array of professors as well as up-to-date equipment to give a firm musical foundation to its students.

Mr. Donald Cameron heads the department, and directs the band in addition to teaching. Mr. Alan Davis teaches voice and conducting. Conductor of the college choirs, Vesper and newly added Concert choir, is Mr. Clarence Martin, who also teaches Fine Arts and voice. Miss Dorothy Kirkbride, Miss Ada Peabody, and Mr. Arthur Birkby, college organist, complete the list of full-time musical professors.

Visiting professors are Mr. Dallmeyer Russell and Mr. Frank Barbato.

Music students can also get a degree in music education, in conjunction with the education department. Every instrument imaginable is a well-known item to the graduating Westminster musician, and records indicate that Westminster graduates do exceptionally well in the field of music. A strobocon, an instrument for indication of sharp or flat pitch, was a big addition to the department equipment.

Physics

Happily settled in its new Science hall quarters, the Physics department offers background for graduate work in engineering, the Sciences, and research, in addition to general courses for non-majors.

The department, supervised by Dr. James Swindler and Dr. Robert Woods, was originally known as the department of natural philosophy, but at the turn of the century split and became the two departments of Physics and Chemistry.

Major courses include studies in the fields of heat, light, meteorology, atomic physics, mechanics, and thermodynamics.

"I think it's this one . . ."

Physical Education

"Be a Sport!"

Physical Education for Westminster men and women not only includes formal classes in gymnastics and swimming, but intramurals and club group instruction as well.

The gymnasium and swimming courses offer one credit hour each semester for the freshman and sophomore years, or a total of four credit hours, which are applied to graduation.

Now housed in two buildings, the department uses the newly-renovated "Old 77" for women's athletics, and the men go through their athletic paces in the Memorial Field House.

Physical Education faculty members are: Mr. Charles "Buzz" Ridl, Mrs. Margaret Nicolls, Mr. Grover C. Washabaugh, Mrs. Helen Williams, and Mr. Harold Burry.

Speech

Following Speech department policy of presenting an educational type play during the college season, the Little Theatre produced "Dear Ruth" as its light-humor sendoff. On its heels came "The Silver Cord," and during International Drama Week in March, the players brought Sophocles' "Antigone" to the college stage. The windup of the season came with Shaw's "Arms and the Man."

In addition to the ever-versatile Little Theatre group, the department has been active in other fields. The old 4:20 Theatre has been revitalized this year to encourage more students to take part in acting. Debate squads have amazed their audiences too, and the Voice of Westminster, station WRW, has been reorganized and revived.

In keeping with the times, the department has slated an introductory course in Television for next year. This follows the demands of students attending the radio-TV clinic held on campus in early April.

The tenth annual high school speech and dramatic arts institute, sponsored by the department, will be held from June 11-25 to offer opportunity to students in radio, speech, and dramatics.

"Can't tell the players without a program . . ."

Bedside Manner

The infirmery's white doors are open around the clock. Eleven beds, five in each wing; and a special isolation unit make up Westminster's ever-popular haven for the sick and tired. Two years ago a whirlpool bath was installed, and it has become immensely popular. The staff is equipped to handle general medical care and emergencies. Little green pills are provided cheerfully for any minor ailment.

The "infirm" was not always as we now know it. As recently as 1947, both the infirmery and the nurses' offices were located in Browne Hall, under the supervision of one full-time and one part-time nurse. There was then no full-time physician. The present pre-fab building went up in 1948. Dr. Frank McClanahan presides.

INFIRMARY

"Hey, Baby . . ."

Kindergarten

The Little People

High on the recommended list for visits is the campus kindergarten, sponsored by the education department in conjunction with the local school board and the commonwealth.

The third barracks is alive with thirty or more very active five-year-olds, and there are things aplenty for them to do. Three of the four major rooms are devoted entirely to their needs.

An art room provides creative stimulus in finger-painting, drawing, clay work, and coloring. The music room, or "quiet" room, houses a piano and record player. Here the pupils sing and dance to their favorite songs, or lie quietly on their rugs while listening to records. A slide, a see-saw, and a jungle bar are popular meeting spots for the younger set, and there is even room for tricycle riding. The fourth room is an office and observation room with a one-way window.

In addition to being ideal for the children, the kindergarten is giving practical training to education majors. Each semester a group of students plan the program and help to carry it out in actual instruction.

Nurses

In this, the second year of the nurses' education program, enrollment has increased from 23 to 29 students. The program is arranged by the college and Jameson Memorial hospital, New Castle, to give the nursing trainees a B.S. degree as well as an R.N. During the trial period, long-range plans are being made for a system comparable to that now in operation at the University of Pittsburgh. The girls will have two years of college and three years of nursing work. This year, however, the nurses have combined training and college by attending school in the morning and doing floor duty and attending hospital classes in the afternoon.

Stepping stone in Westminster's campaign toward getting a chapter of Phi Beta Kappa on campus is Pi Sigma Pi. Members of this honorary are working like beavers to achieve their aim, and to foster high scholastic achievement at the same time. The group honors students who have completed 75 or more hours with an average of 2.4 or better, and cultivates general cultural interest in its members.

This year the Pi Sigs, who meet monthly, sponsored their annual book drive to secure much-needed books for the library, and raised a record $980*, had a tea for freshmen on the honor roll, and had an affair for area high school honor students.

Officers for the year were Nancy Arnold, president; Reid Stewart, vice-president; Lynette Giffen, secretary-treasurer. Members included Jean Agnew, Lyle Beall, Lois Downes, Bertha Joy, and Mary Beth McIndoe.

The Argo

As in those thrilling days of yesteryear, modern day Argonauts sailed forth on literary voyages every Monday afternoon of this year. The port of debarkation was an appropriated office which had been a bacteriology lab in the old Science hall.

Sister ship of the Greek ship, Holkos, which bore the news, the contemporary Argo first felt the wind in its sails in 1904. A financial flop, its publication was declined by the class of 1905. The class of 1906 then undertook to get the book out in its junior year, a precedent which was followed until this year. This explains the singular tradition of numbering the annual one year ahead.

At any rate, the class of 1954 cordially extends an invitation for your browsing time, and hopes that Argo 1955 measures up to your fondest expectations.

"Let the Presses Roll."

For a chronicle of the week's events on the Westminster scene, students have looked to the Holcad since 1894; first as a pamphlet, then as a monthly literary magazine.

Edited by journalism students who affectionately label it "The Hellcat," the weekly paper serves as an interpreter, informant, and entertainer. Its uncensored columns provide a healthy sounding board for campus controversies.

It was the Greek students who suggested that the newspaper be christened the Holcad, after the Greek vessel "Holkos," one of the ships seeking the Golden Fleece.

Scrawl

Westminsterites with a literary flair fill the pages of Scrawl with prose, poetry, drama, fiction, book reviews, and art work twice a year.

Published in the Spring and Fall of the year, each issue carries a theme throughout, usually from some memorable quotation. Scrawl began in 1939, and is sold to students and alumni. Several campus organizations contribute prizes for outstanding works in each issue.

Richard Barnhart served as editor for the Fall issue, and Doris Valentine for Spring. Faculty advisors to the group are Dr. Amy Charles, literary, and Miss Elizabeth Nixon, technical.

The Year In Review . . .

Westminsterites settled down to another year of study on September 22. Dr. John Forry had become Academic Dean over the summer, there were several new faces in the faculty ranks, and Freshmen arrived in droves.

Student Council sponsored the annual All-College "Who's Who" talent show at the end of the first week of school, and Westminster tramped over Carnegie Tech on the gridiron.

From the year's opening to Homecoming was a short jump of two weeks and another football victory, this one over Thiel. Nancy Young and her court reigned over the gaily decorated campus, Johnny Long entertained students and alums at the annual Dance of the Year, and the Towering Titans walloped Bethany to make the events of the weekend perfect.

Fall brought Hell Week for Frosh, a trip to the U. N. for interested students, and Dr. Carl Compton, noted nuclear physicist. The new Science hall was dedicated, the Holcad and Mr. Sam Sloan raised money for scoreboards, and Greek rushing was over before anyone realized it. Spiritual Emphasis Week was a meaningful event to nearly everyone. The Little Theatre gave "Dear Ruth" and "The Silver Cord." The Lecture Series was as good as ever, running a photofinish race with visiting musicians in the Artist Course.

Westminsterites migrated to Waynesburg for the third year in a row to watch an old time rival go down in defeat.

Football season, it need not be mentioned, was spectacular. Westminster's undefeated gentlemen of the gridiron were the toast of the tri-state area. The college held a rally in Old 77 in their honor, and called off afternoon classes the same day. Mr. Fill Campbell, local businessman, played host to the team and friends of the team at a Shenango Inn dinner.

Christmas serenades, house parties, and vacation itself were virtually forgotten when Pi Sigma Pi opened its record-breaking book drive for the library. TUB habitues found themselves better informed when the Speech department instituted "Tubline," a twice-daily newscast direct from the library radio studio to the Titan Union Building. Esquire chose a candidate from Westminster for the Pittsburgh Press beauty contest. Basketball season wasn't quite as notable as football, but the spirit was there with a notable change for the better.

Thanksgiving vacation had been omitted, but sons and daughters of Westminster didn't find a ten-day Spring vacation too hard to take. Senior comprehensives sent the college electric bill soaring, and Spring descended upon New Wilmington with a resounding splash.

Freshman girls issued forth the perennial lament of having to be in while faculty offspring were still roller skating in the Spring twilight, but looked forward to being big girls next year. The Little Theatre offered "Antigone" and "Arms and the Man" for the campus audience.

Parent's Day and "Sing and Swing" set the strides for the last lap of the college year. Sororities held their Spring formals and subsequent picnics, setting the trend for the whole campus to head for the woods and more picnics; some organized, others impromptu.

Weary Seniors turned in their theses and assumed erudite attitudes which they carried with them to exams, where they soon became just as panicky as their underclass brothers and sisters.

Alumni Day brought more old grads back to see what had developed since Homecoming. The Concert Choir, which had been on tour over the Spring holidays, joined with the Vesper Choir to sing their annual musical program and at Baccalaureate. Commencement ended another year, and everyone is still wondering where it went, although already Frosh are assuming the dignity of Sophomores in preparation for the coming year.

"One of these days ... Pow!"

FZZZZT!

They tell how fast the arrow sped
When William shot the apple;
But who can calculate the speed
Of him who's late for chapel?

Fifty years ago Alpha Gamma Delta became a national sorority. Alpha Epsilon chapter has certainly helped celebrate its anniversary.

Homecoming weekend, with Marjorie Rodger as their candidate for campus Queen, a "ghostly" house party, and the all-sorority Hallowe'en party, started the school year with a bustle. Right on their heels came pledging, a "Tin Pan Alley" party, and the slumber party with the pledges, rounding out 1953.

Back for 1954, the actives honored the fourteen pledges at a dance held in the Community House. Alpha Gams continued their social calendar with a record dance and children's party, all the while practicing for the traditional Sing and Swing competition. On May 21 the Alpha Gams held their Spring dinner-dance in Mercer, with a picnic the next day.

Once again the year started with thoughts of Homecoming. The house was decorated with a school of movable fish and underwater teacher, with a caption reading "Our school gives O-Fish-Al welcome, alumni." Marlene Rahencamp was Homecoming Queen candidate.

The "Isle of Capri" offered a colorful theme for the house party in October, held at the Sig Ep house. December was a busy month for Beta Sig actives and pledges. A "Christmas in Toyland" house party got everyone in the mood for Christmas, and the pledges held a tea for fraternity pledges. A slumber party with entertainment and a sleepless night completed the social calendar for 1953. On January 22 a dinner dance was held at Cresswell's.

The Spring was eventful too, with a house party given by the pledges, the annual inter-sorority ice cream social, and Sing and Swing. The big affair of the year was the Spring formal in May, with a picnic the following day.

Chi Omega started the year off with a bang. Homecoming decoration laurels were presented to gleeful Chi O's at Saturday's football game by Dr. Will Orr, and Jean Wick was the girls' choice for Homecoming queen candidate. Pledging, the slumber party, and house parties, made Christmas vacation come before anyone realized it.

Following vacation came more house parties, an all-college event, an intersorority party, and the natural peak of the social year, the Spring Formal.

Kappa Delta started the year 1953-54 with a bang. School hadn't been in session many weeks until time for welcoming alums back for Homecoming. Three French can-can girls greeted old grads by dancing to a sign that read "We welcome you as much as we can-can." K.D.'s had a reason to be extra-happy that week-end, for Nancy Young was Homecoming Queen. During the fall, K.D.'s acquired a new refrigerator and television set. The annual inter-sorority Coffee Cozy was held in October. In November, K.D. patrons honored the new pledges with the traditional spaghetti supper and early December saw the second annual "coming-out party" for pledges. Other December activities were the slumber party, and the visit of Province president Dorothy Veon.

Spring brought another whirl of activities to the sorority. House parties, a party for underprivileged children, the exciting competition of "Sing and Swing," and of course, the wonderful social climax, the Spring formal.

Sigma Kappa started their social year with great plans for Homecoming. Alumnae knew that "Weather It's Hot or Weather It's Cold", they were really welcomed. Mary Rushing was the Sig Kap's candidate for Homecoming Queen.

As soon as Homecoming plans were put away in the files for future reference, the girls turned their thoughts to rushing; and rushing ended successfully for the Sig Kaps, when they took 19 new pledges. The pledges entertained the actives at the annual slumber party.

Other activities for the year included a coffee party for the patronesses in October, an all sorority card party in November, house parties, and of course, the Spring Formal. The girls also held a record dance after one of the basketball games in "Old 77", and a tea in March for the New Castle alumnae.

This year the Sigma Kappa women were undefeated in intramural basketball and won the cup.

Theta Upsilon's social year began with plans for Homecoming. Alumni from Mars were soon found on the Theta U. front lawn, and a Martian rocket ship, replete with smoke and rockets, hid Elliot house from view. The girls were a little disappointed at this, because they had hoped alums would be able to better behold the new coat of paint on the house. Patti Riddle was T. U.'s candidate for Homecoming Queen.

The patch of field next to the house was the ideal setting for Theta U's plans for the first house party, when they had a wiener roast outside and a Hobo ball indoors. The girls and their dates had a cold but happy evening, and learned many new songs.

Grecian goddesses entertained rushees at the final rush party, but in turn 23 newly-pledged vaudeville performers entertained the actives at the annual slumber party. The actives reciprocated and honored pledges at the Christmas party, at which time patrons and patronesses gave the girls a huge silver serving tray.

Other activities included an all-sorority Donut Dunk, more house parties, intramural participation, a record dance, "Sing and Swing," and the climax of the year, the Spring Formal.

Quadrangle, campus independent women's organization, was indeed active this year. Starting with a party for Freshman women in September, Quadrangle girls kept up a busy schedule up to the end of the year.

Connie Mabon was Quadrangle's candidate for Homecoming Queen. The group held an Open House in Ferguson, an all-college dance and a luncheon for new members in November, and several other parties.

The group was organized at Westminster in 1941. In 1948 Quadrangle became affiliated with the National Independent Student Association.

Alpha Sigma Phi, 16 years a Westminster national fraternity, found a hometown celebrity this year when Dr. Hugh Hart, a Westminster grad, became the fraternity's national president.

For Homecoming, ASP's racket, depicting the steady income for Westminster's centennial campaign, included a miniature revolving globe with buildings representing Westminster.

"Then what did the Dean say?"

Advisors Dr. Joseph Hopkins and Dr. Wallace Jamison helped Warren Watkins, president; John Mansell, vice-president; Joe Daniel, secretary; and Samuel Work, treasurer in guiding the fraternity through the 1953-54 academic year.

It was an important year for the Phi Tau's, still a young group on campus. Numerous renovations and additions around the house were the most noticeable innovations, not to mention the boys' giant boxer, who has already become a campus fixture. One of the more enjoyable additions was a television set, which has found a real home in the Phi Tau house.

Four house parties, formals at Christmas and Easter, a serenade, Homecoming and "Sing and Swing" competition were fraternity activities for the year. Sixteen pledges graced the rolls of Phi Kappa Tau, and twenty-five actives completed the list of the growing group.

Officers for the year were: Bruce Thielemann, president; Crea Clark, vice-president; Louis Evert, recording secretary; Richard Barnhart, corresponding secretary, and Thomas Patterson, treasurer.

Sigma Nu started the year off by copping laurels in the annual Homecoming decorations competition. The Christmas Formal, Spring Formal, and intermediate house parties were successful once again this year. The boys put their noses to the grindstone for their Service Week Project, a party for orphans from the Mercer Home, and a pledge project. "Sing and Swing" participation and the annual Sigma Nu Sweetheart Dinner were highlights of the social year.

Officers were Jerome Annick, president; George Benaman, vice-president; Barnum Wahl, secretary; and Robert Rankin, treasurer.

"Next year we're pledging Willie Hoppe"

It was a busy year for Sigma Phi Epsilon. Improvements around the house kept Sig Eps busy, and so did the many sorority house parties held in the house during the year. Fraternity house parties, the Christmas formal and the Easter formal got the socializing Sig Eps off to a good year, and Homecoming and "Sing and Swing" competition offered extra incentive for Westminster Sigma Phi Epsilons.

Homecoming . . .

Queen Nancy Young

Homecoming came early this year; Mr. and Miss Westminster had hardly shed their summer suntans when the Towering Titans ran roughshod over Bethany on the warm October afternoon.

Queen Nancy presided over the annual Dance of the Year in Youngstown's Stambaugh auditorium Friday night. Music for the event was provided by maestro Johnny Long and his vivacious, intermission-mad ensemble.

Decoration trophies were carried away by Chi Omega, Sigma Nu, and Browne Hall. An all-college alumni dance was held after the game in Old 77, and Sunday saw the combined choirs serenading students and alums in the chapel. Dr. Addison Lietch conducted the Vesper service, concluding the weekend which had been a howling success for the thirty-fourth consecutive year.

SPIRITUAL EMPHASIS WEEK

Tall, dark and hands

Mr. Howard Hageman of Newark, N. J. was guest speaker for Spiritual Emphasis week, which ran from November 8 to November 15. A powerful speaker who used hands as well as voice to make his point, Hageman conducted two chapels a day, numerous discussion groups, and a communion service at the end of the week. The minister spent his leisure time in the TUB in informal discussions of religion and the secular.

Mr. Melvin Moorhouse was general chairman of the annual observance.

Visiting Dignitary

Dr. Carl Kompton, internationally-known atomic physicist, was the featured speaker at Annual Fall Convocation, held October 14 in the United Presbyterian church.

Twelve honor students were recognized, and three area citizens were granted honorary degrees at this time. Also, Convocation this year brought the dedication of the new Freeman Science hall. The building, joined to the old Science hall, honors Dr. Charles Freeman, longtime Westminster's grand old man, who died in February, 1953.

The Lecture Series

KIMBROUGH

OSUSKY

Richard Corson's highly diverting "Platform Portraits" were the first offering of the Westminster College Lecture Series for '53-54. His parodies on lectures and lecturers ranged from a running comparison of "Proposals to Cynthia" by a harassed suitor to "Unnecessary Lectures by Unimportant People"—from the genial extrovert talking about "Friends and How To Make Them," to the vague, bespectacled professor who speaks on "Electricity and You." Corson appeared October 29.

Author and foreign correspondent Nora Waln, just returned from a three-year stint in the Far East, arrived, "Reporting On Asia," on November 23. Mrs. Waln has written for the Atlantic Monthly, the Saturday Evening Post, and has written several books on life in the Orient and in Europe.

"The Way of the Free" was Legion D'Honneur winner Dr. Stefan Osusky's topic on January 21. Dr. Osusky is President of the Czechoslovakian government-in-exile, and in the first World War was the youngest collaborator of President Masaryk, and one of the founders of Czechoslovakia. A representative for seventeen years to the League of Nations, Dr. Osusky is now Visiting Professor of European civilization and culture at Colgate University.

WALN

Mrs. Emily (Our Hearts Were Young and Gay) Kimbrough related her amusing adventures as a lecturer in "It Gives Me Great Pleasure" on March 18. Mrs. Kimbrough's madcap experiences are also to be found in several other books.

Winding up the series on April 22 was Dr. Karlos Davila, journalist, diplomat, and former President of Chile. Dr. Davila's topic: "Can We Have A Better Good Neighbor Policy?" A Cabot Prize winner from Columbia University for distinguished journalism in the field of inter-American relations, Dr. Davila now writes for a chain of South American newspapers.

This year marked the greatest year in Westminster's football history when Titans battled to the first undefeated season in college annals.

In winning eight games with no losses, Westminster ranked fourth among the nation's small colleges in defense, and boasted the nation's twelfth best small-college passer in Quarterback Harold Davis.

In becoming the first undefeated team in college history, the Titans overcame three outstanding jinxes held over them for periods of twelve, eighteen, and twenty-five years, respectively.

The first of these jinxes was reversed in the first game of the season when the Titans beat Carnegie Tech for the first time since 1941. Fullback Don Brown's pass interception marked the only score of the game. Twice the Titans lost the ball on downs after carrying it to the Tech 25 and 10 yard lines. The third quarter saw the Tartan's only threat as they marched down to the Titan 18, losing the ball on a fumble.

The Strategists: Coach Burry, Co-captains Veights and Mantz, Coach Ridl.

Quarterback Harold Davis spearheaded the Blue and White's second victory by scoring twice and passing for two more touchdowns in Westminster's 32-7 rout over Thiel. Davis' scores came on plunges of two and three yards plus an 18 yard pass to halfback Bill White and a 15 yard toss to halfback Ivan Carl. The Titans' final score came in the last stanza on a handoff from Quarterback Jay DeBolt to Lowell Lander who scampered 28 yards. Thiel scored its only touchdown in the final period from 11 yards out.

Westminster repeated the previous week's performance in the Homecoming tilt, romping over Bethany, 32-6. An overflow of fans witnessed a series of long runs including jaunts 35, 40, and 60 yards, along with two passes, which netted 38 yards. Co-captain Carl Mantz, running from the halfback slot, scored the Titans' first touchdown on a plunge from two yards out. The second Titan tally came on a 15 yard Davis-to-White pass. Highlighting the game was End Vince Cortese's 60 yard trot after taking a nine-yard pass from Jay DeBolt. The first half ended with the Blue and White out front with a 26-0 count following White's 40 yard run and a 23 yard pass from Davis to Mantz. The Titans scored their final touchdown in the third frame following a 35 yard scamper by fullback Don Brown. Bethany's lone score came in the last period.

The Front Wall: Linemen Moss, Burdulis, Veights, Eckstrom, Latta, James, and Cortese.

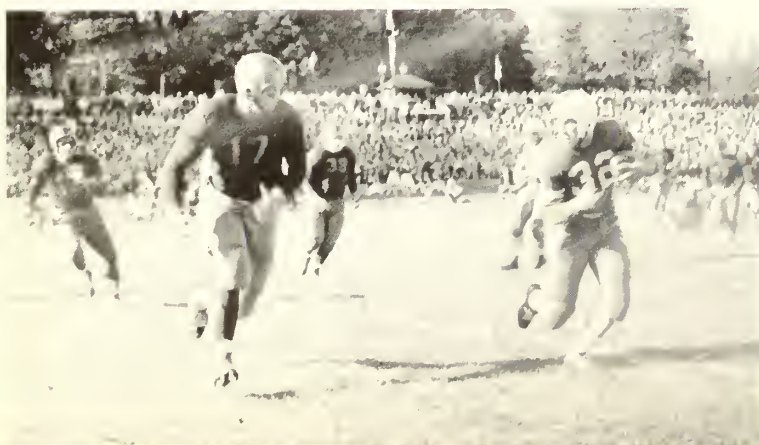

Forced to give up the advantage of their home field, the Titans travelled to Grove City for the Wolverines' Homecoming. A 55 yard pass from Davis to White in the last two minutes of the game spoiled Grove City's day, 20-14. White accounted for the game's first score by scampering 23 yards through the line in the second period to give the Titans a 7-0 advantage. However, in the dying minutes of the third quarter, the Wolverines climaxed a 90 yard drive with a game-tying score. In the final period Grove City scored again to move into the lead, 14-7. The Blue and White soon came back when Davis connected with Cortese in the end zone after Westminster had marched to the Grove City 25. The conversion missed, and Grove City hung onto a slim 14-13 lead. Then came Davis' toss to White, and along with it Westminster's fourth win of the season.

Quintuple Threat: White, Brown, Davis, Eckstrom, Mantz.

The Titans then travelled to nearby Beaver Falls to play in Geneva's Homecoming. Again the Blue and White were the spoilers, winning 8-0. The defensive line highlighted the entire game, holding the Covies to a total of 55 yards, and accounting for all of the Titans' scoring. Tackle "Jesse" James blocked a Covie punt, which gave the Titans a 2-0 lead. Tackle Don Burdulis clinched the victory when he intercepted a Geneva pass and scored, giving the Burry Men another six points and the game.

Westminster played her third away game and fourth Homecoming game in a row when she met Waynesburg, a team the Blue and White had been unable to beat since 1928. But this year the Titans were not to be stopped. When the final gun sounded, Westminster was on the long end of an impressive 20-0 score. According to modern records, the win marked the first time in College history that a football team had won six consecutive games in one season. The Titans' first score climaxed an 80-yard march in the first quarter when Davis flipped a five-yard pass to Cortese. Included in the 80 yard march was a 58 yard pass from Davis to White. White scored the Titans' second touchdown on a three-yard plunge, making the score 13-0. Fullback Ron Ginter scored the Titans' final touchdown when he bulled over from the six yard marker in the final period. Davis stood out for the Blue and White on offense, completing seven out of ten passes for a total of 116 yards, while "Beaver" Lander sparkplugged the Titan defense by intercepting four Yellowjacket passes.

... Try and catch me!

Caught Napping

Win number seven came at Allegheny's expense when the Titans returned home for the remainder of the season. Westminster opened the scoring in the third period on a 34 yard pass from Davis to Cortese. In the final period Lander shot over 23 yards for the Titans' second and last touchdown for the 12-0 victory. The game marked Allegheny's seventh loss of the season against no wins.

Going Nowhere . . .

At times it was tough . . .

The final game of the year came on November 14 against a team which had been unfathomable for Westminster since 1935: Slippery Rock. Tension had reached its climax, and the Titans faced their last jinx. The scare didn't last long. The Titans took the opening kickoff, and seven plays later were in the lead, 6-0. On the first play of the game Bill White ran 40 yards to the visitors' 35 yard line. Six plays later Davis passed 11 yards to Carl Mantz in the end zone. Vince Cortese's conversion was good, and the Titans led, 7-0. In the second stanza, however, Slippery Rock scored on a ten-yard pass into the end zone, but trailed by one point when their extra point attempt missed. In the fourth quarter Don Brown caught a Davis pass on the Slippery Rock ten, and ran the rest of the way to give Westminster a 13-6 victory and the first undefeated season in the history of football of the college. Brown highlighted the game with his offensive play with his 122 yard gain total in 16 attempts.

Seven seniors saw action in Westminster's "greatest." They were centers Jim Bowser and Roy Eckstrom; halfbacks Ivan Carl and Co-captain Carl Mantz; Tackle "Jesse" James, and Guards John Latta and Co-captain Ralph Veights.

In becoming the fourth best small college defensewise, Westminster held their opponents to 524 yards in 273 attempts for a mere 1.5 average. In offense the Titans carried the ball 1486 yards in 364 attempts for a 4.1 average. Don Brown led offensively with 5.2 yards per try while Quarterback Harold Davis compiled 741 yards on 54 pass completions, including ten touchdowns. Halfback Bill White led the Titan scoring with five touchdowns for 30 points, and Vince Cortese followed closely by catching four touchdown passes and completing four extra point conversions for 28 points. Co-captain Carl Mantz was third, scoring three touchdowns and kicking one extra point for a total of 19 points.

Westminster's "Towering Titans" of basketball renown returned to their former prowess during the 1953-54 season, compiling a record of 17 victories against six defeats.

The Blue and White lost only three games on their home floor including a 93-68 setback at the hands of Akron Goodyear in an exhibition contest. The Titans' six defeats in regular season play came at the hands of only three teams—St. Francis (Pa.), Geneva, and Washington and Jefferson. St. Francis' National Invitational Tournament entry was the only team of the three that the Titans' were unable to cope with at least once during the season.

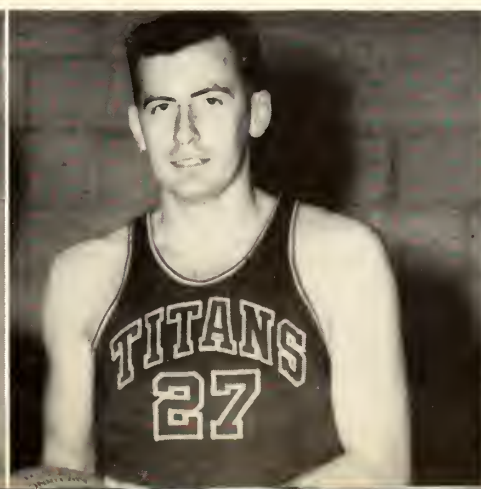

Westminster got off to a fast start in the season opener when they hosted Eastern New Mexico University on December 10. Freshman Jim Riley, 6' 5" center, paced the Titans to a 75-56 victory with his 21 points. The Blue and White were never in trouble as they led 26-9, 42-26, and 59-39 at the quarters. Captain Jerry Neff, 6' 4" forward, held runnerup honors with 16 points.

The Titans ran into trouble in their second contest when they hosted the Bisons from Bethany, W. Va. The score board showed the Titans ahead 45-42 at the half and 61-55 at the three quarter marker, but it took a last minute field goal in the final frame by freshman Bob Davis to give the Blue and White a 74-73 victory. Riley again led the Titans with 27 points, while freshman teammate, George Strehler, had runnerup honors with 13.

On their final home appearance before the holidays, the Westminster aggregation copped an easy 91-51 verdict over Youngstown. The game was completely one sided from the beginning to end with the Titans leading 27-10 at the end of the first quarter and 49-27 at halftime. George Strehler took scoring honors with 18 points for the locals, and freshman Harold Davis followed with 17.

Westminster took to the road to win their fourth victory in as many starts when they met Carnegie Tech in Pittsburgh. But the plaid engineers proved no easy mark as the teams were forced into an overtime when the final period ended at 73-73. Tony Stillson put the winning marker in for the Titans in the overtime to push the Blue and White ahead 78-76. Jim Riley again spurred the Westminster five to victory by dumping 31 points through the hoop, while Jerry Neff collected 29.

Westminster's first loss of the season came the following night at Washington, Pa., when the Titans met the Prexies from Washington and Jefferson. The Blue and White led at the close of the first period, 15-12, but trailed at half-time by one point, 31-30. From then on the Titans had rough sledding and at the end of the game were on the short end of a 73-56 count. Captain Jerry Neff suffered a broken jaw in the contest which sidelined him for the remainder of holiday play.

December 28, 29, and 30 the Washabaugh and Ridl crew forged their way to the finals of the Youngstown Invitational Tournament but came out second best, losing to a strong St. Francis (Pa.) five, 79-55. In the tourney opener the Titans met the Covies of Geneva in a fast paced thriller in which both teams connected for 40% of their field goal attempts. At the end of a torrid first half the Titans led, 50-45. The Blue and White lead was stretched to 69-59 at the end of the third quarter, but the men from Westminster had to pour on the pressure before they emerged victorious, 89-81. Tony Stillson led the scoring with 18 points, while Tom Schrecengost followed with 16.

In second round play Westminster defeated Youngstown again, this time by a 76-63 margin. The Titan bench was cleared in this contest as Harold Davis and Bob Doran were high for the locals with 15 points each. Doran's points came as he completed seven out of nine field goal attempts.

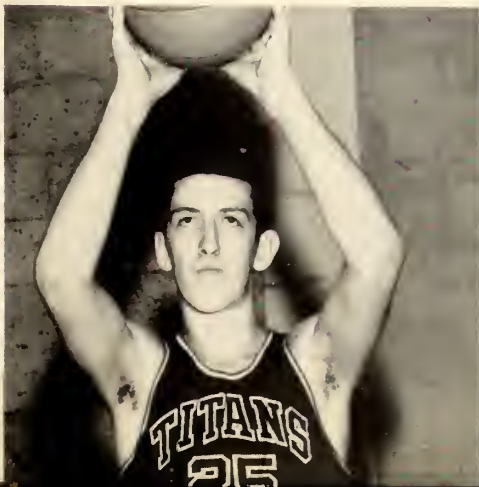

The tourney final saw the Titans outclassed by a powerful St. Francis five. The Frankies coasted to an easy victory, leading 19-8, 41-22, and 56-35 at the quarters. Harold Davis was high man for the locals with 14 points. Riley, who was chosen on the All-Tournament five, was second with 12.

On December 31, the night after the tourney final, the Titans won their seventh game of the season at the expense of Akron University, 79-71. Westminster held a 38-31 halftime lead and stretched it to 60-44 at the end of the third quarter. Schrecengost paced the Blue and White with 27 points.

Westminster returned home following the holidays and hosted St. Francis on January 5. But again the Frankies from down Altoona way proved too much for the Titans. This time the count was a resounding 93-68. At one point in the third period the locals came within nine points of tying the game up, but St. Francis pulled out the stops and coasted to victory. Riley had 17 points for Westminster, and Harold Davis had 15.

In their next contest the Titans gained sweet revenge for an earlier defeat by dropping Washington and Jefferson at Memorial field house. Freshman Dick Jordan, 6' 8" center, was the game's outstanding player as he scored 10 points and controlled both backboards after entering the game in the final period. Strehler was high for the Titans with 16 markers.

Westminster missed the century marker by one point in their next home encounter against Allegheny. The Titans coasted to an easy 99-65 victory as Harold Davis and Tony Stillson led the locals with 20 and 17 points respectively. Highlighting the game was a 60 foot set shot by the Gators' Dom Mattei just as the third quarter buzzer sounded.

Geneva avenged their loss at the hands of the Titans when Westminster traveled to Beaver Falls on January 14. Jim Riley's 24 points for the Titans were not quite enough as the Covies won, 84-72.

Two nights later the Titans trounced Waynesburg by a 81-65 count. The game was closely fought until the final period when the Blue and White spurted to a 22 point lead. Tony Stillson paced the locals with 22 points. The victory, the Titan's tenth of the campaign, ran the Westminster win total to equal that of the previous season.

Captain Jerry Neff returned to action on January 22 to lead the Titans to a 79-67 victory over Bethany at the W. Va. hardwood. Senior Bob Jones annexed his ball stealing tactics in this contest as he copped the ball eight times. Neff's 21 points was high for the Blue and White.

Westminster's next victim was Pitt, as the Blue and White came from behind to win a 71-66 thriller. Bob Jones again featured when Pitt made the mistake of freezing the ball in the fourth quarter. At that time the Panthers were ahead, 62-54. From then on the Titans were not to be stopped and went on to win the game.

In the exhibition game with the Wingfoots from Akron Goodyear, the Titans trailed by only four points at the close of the first half, but in the middle of the third period the two-platoon system of the professionals overpowered the Titans' efforts. Prominent in halting the Titan drive was 6'11" center Jim McIntyre. Neff and Strehler were high for Westminster with 16 points apiece.

Lightning struck for the third time this season when the men from Titan-town traveled to Altoona to face St. Francis. Westminster trailed by 14 points at halftime but came within 10 points at the three quarter mark. Maurice Stokes, All-American candidate for the Frankies, scored 13 points in the final frame and led the St. Francis aggregation out of any trouble as they walked away to a 99-78 victory over the Blue and White. Neff was high for Westminster with 28 points.

Westminster went down to its third loss in a row and second of the season to Geneva when the Covies came to New Wilmington February 13. Bill Blair, sophomore sensation for the Covies, was the whole show, setting a new high scoring mark with his 42 points. Geneva's other ace, sophomore center Stan Yukica, posted 25 more for the winners. Neff and Riley led Westminster with 25 and 22 points respectively. The final score, 104-85. But this marked the last game the Blue and White were to lose for the 1953-54 season.

Youngstown fell victim to the Titans for the third time this season when they lost their final match with the locals, 94-87. Westminster trailed at the quarter, 23-20, but pulled ahead at the half, 46-42. The end of the third quarter saw the score tied, 66-66. Midway through the final period Westminster pulled ahead 87-85 and went on to win the game. Riley was high man in the game with 31 points, while Jerry Neff followed second for the Titans with 22 points, 18 of which came in the second half.

Jerry Neff led the Titans to their second victory over Pitt when he tossed in eight points in the second overtime period of a hard-fought 104-94 Titan victory. The game marked an all time record high in total points scored at Westminster. The fourth quarter ended with the score knotted, 82-82, as the result of a Pitt field goal in the final three seconds of play. The first three quarter marks saw the Titans trail 25-23 at the end of the first, tied up 50-50 at the half, and led 71-61 at the end of the third. In the first overtime each squad scored four field goals to come out still tied, 90-90. Then Neff came through with his eight points, and it was all over for the Panthers except the shouting. The Titan captain led Westminster's scorers with 34 points, tying Ed Halas' previous game high record. And for the third time this season, Riley connected for 31 points.

In the next-to-last game of the season the Titans crushed a weak Waynesburg five, 69-49. The Blue and White outscored the Yellow Jackets in the second quarter, 19-4, and coasted the rest of the way. Riley was high for Westminster with 19 points, while Neff followed closely with 18.

The "Towering Titans" closed out the season on February 27 with a real thriller when they played host to Carnegie Tech. During the bitterly fought contest the score was tied ten times. Jerry Neff finished his college play scoring only seven points, but most of the seven came in the final minutes of the last quarter to give the Titans a 78-71 victory.

Three other seniors besides Neff played their last year of college ball. These other men were Dick Black, Jim Brill, and Bob Jones. Also to be seen for the last time this season was senior manager Ralph Buchanan.

Season totals saw the Titans averaging 79 points per game to their opponents' 73. Jim Riley led the Titan scorers with a season total of 453 points in 23 games for an average of 19.7 points per game, a high scoring record for a freshman. Jerry Neff followed with 274 points in 14 games for an average of 19.5 points per game. Harold Davis was third with 270 points in 23 games for an 11.7 average. George Strehler, Tom Schrecengost, and Tony Stillson had season totals of 211, 200, and 144 points respectively. Other members of the Titan squad accounted for a total of 246 points for the season.

A Fraternity is more than a group of fellows who wear the same pin. A Fraternity does more than throw novel house parties and formals, compete for trophies, and serenade girls' dormitories. These activities play a large part in college living, but the benefits gained from participating in fraternity activities plays a larger part in life as college days are left behind. The cooperation required to make all ventures successful can best be learned by working in a group, such as a fraternity, when people with varied interests meet to share their experiences. Fraternity life broadens the individual interests and gives him a well-rounded personality as he completes his education.

At Press Time . . .

Last Spring a group of journalism majors polled students to discover what they wanted in a yearbook. The results of that poll are what we have tried to give you in this, the 1955 Argo.

A yearbook is a funny thing to put out; it is always a challenge, and there is a perpetual overhanging deadline, of one kind or another. It is in the desperation accompanying this overhang that so many people aid a harassed editor in regaining his sanity, at least temporarily; and it is to this group of people that we are particularly grateful.

The staff, of course, comes first on the list. Most of them have worked long, often tedious hours, with no reward but a hike back down the Science hall stairs. Mr. Robert Carey came through on so many occasions with pictures, late hours in the darkroom, and suggestions, all of which are deeply appreciated. On occasion Dr. Amy Charles was a willing aid with an eye for grammatical errors and darkroom work, and Dr. Myron Simpson was the perfect landlord to the Argo, which established headquarters in an abandoned Science hall bacteriology lab. To Mrs. Helen Dougherty of the Northern Engraving and Electrotrope Company of Canton, Ohio, goes the editor's profound gratitude for her patience and cooperation above and beyond the call of the contract. Thanks are also due to Mr. Bill Abey of Youngstown's Abey Studio for all his extra assistance, and to Mr. Walter Wyant, the long-suffering representative of Kurtz Bros., Argo printers.

Deepest appreciation goes to the lady who never lost her sense of humor, even when things were toughest in the last week before press deadline. Her ever-ready advice and skillful eye for detail were always there when the editor needed them most. We speak, of course, of Miss Elizabeth Nixon, advisor to the Argo, without whom its production would have been impossible.

Here it is, your 1955 Argo for 1954; we hope that you'll enjoy it.
